

Abstract

A method of acquiring a membership in a destination site on a network includes the steps of: accessing an affiliate site on a network, the affiliate site including a hyperlink to a destination site; accessing the destination site by activating the hyperlink; and acquiring a membership in the destination site and a tangible good associated with the membership in the destination site.